The game is best played with a medium size group of people because if you have a big group it will take too long but if you have a small group the game will end very quickly. I think that there should be 4 to 7 people but you can still play with more or less. The game is easy to carry around and is great for long journeys and is easy to pack away after use.

The game uses cards which means that you have to play independently. When you have finished your go you let the person sat next to you have their go but when you have put your card down they are not allowed to put the same colour card down. Personally my favourite part of the game was when you had to put your cards down and hopefully end up with no cards left. I like the game because it was fun to play with others and lets me be competitive with my friends.

I loved playing this game it was so easy to play and to learn and the best bit is that it doesn't take too long to play which means you can play rounds and you will never get bored of playing. The funny thing about this game is that when you put the card down and then you have one card left and then someone gives you five more cards it just makes you laugh because you thought you were close to winning! I am sure that my family will love the game and get addicted to it especially having two crazy little brothers. I did enjoy the game however at first understanding how to play was a bit confusing but once I understood the rules it was ok.

Overall, I would rate this game a 10 out of 10. It is fun to play and easy to learn. I would definitely recommend this to people who ask for a fun family card game.
